CURED BY FAITH.

Mrs. Elam, of Our City, Tells of Her Wonderful Healing After Years of Suffering.

We clip from the Gospel Trumpet of September 24, these words by Mrs. Elam, of our city:

"It is truly wonderful what the Lord has done for me. I was saved about twelve years ago, but lived an up-and-down life. I lived that many years without being sanctified, because I did not understand how to obtain the blessing. About two months ago I became convicted, I thought, for sanctification. I began seeking the Lord to sanctify me, but my prayers would not go through. I knew the Lord's word was true and that it was not his fault; so I asked the Lord to throw his search-light on my heart and show me what was in the way. Then he showed me that I had wronged some persons and that I should ask them to forgive me. At this time I was on my bed of affliction and could not go to these persons; but the Lord sent them to me, and He gave me a willingness to ask them to forgive me.

For the last two years the saints have been visiting me and teaching me this straight way. I am so glad I have found this highway of holiness. The dear saints at Jeffersonville have been praying earnestly for me and their prayers have gone through. Praise the Lord! On Saturday, August 15, the Lord gave me the witness that my sins were all forgiven. It seemed that angels were hovering over me. I said to mother, 'I feel so much better.' She looked as though she thought I meant in my body, so I said, 'Oh, I feel so good in my soul!'

I was an invalid for about four years. I had muscular and inflammatory rheumatism. My whole body was affected by it. I tried almost every remedy I could hear of and got no better, but rather grew worse. I also had a rheumatic heart, for which I had taken strychnine for two years. When the saints would talk to me about divine healing, I would go to talking about my weak heart. I was afraid to give up strychnine. You see I had my eyes on the medicine instead of on God. The Lord has healed my heart, and it is just as strong as any one's heart. Praise the Lord!

In the first year of my affliction my lower limbs were drawn so I was unable to walk except with crutches at times. Most of the time I was bedfast. I cannot begin to tell you what I suffered. The disease kept spreading through my body until, two years later, my right arm was affected. It was fast at my side, and I could in no wise raise my arm. My limbs were so tender that I could hardly stand for any one to walk across the floor. During my affliction I would be so I could sit up at times under a load of pain; but for two years I could not walk a step, not even with crutches. I was helpless; but I was blessed with a dear mother to take care of me through those long years of suffering.

For more than two weeks before the Lord healed me I was lying at the point of death. The day before I was healed the doctor told my aunt that I could not be well any more. He told another lady that he had brought me through some bad spells, but he did not think he could bring me through that one. But there is nothing too hard for the Lord to do. Bless His holy name.

I had suffered so long that my nerves had broken down, and any excitement would almost paralyze me. On the day that I took worse an excursion ran to this place. To the best of my knowledge, the excursionists were merchant men from some city. So the people here wanted to welcome them by having all the whistles blow. When the whistles began to blow I thought it meant fire; but as they kept blowing (it seemed to me like two hours), I fell over almost paralyzed. I grew worse each day and did not believe I could have lived through Sunday night had not the dear Lord healed me. Glory to his name! I was healed August 16.

I want to tell you how the Lord worked everything. Brother Williams had been coming to our home for some time, teaching me how to live free from sin and to trust the Lord for the healing of my body. May the Lord bless him and all the saints for the interest they have taken in me. On Sunday Brother Williams came to town to meet Bro. Barney E. Warren, thinking the latter would come on the nine o'clock train; but that train does not run on Sunday. Brother Williams came out to see how I was, and I was very low. The doctor had told mother not to let any one talk to me; but I wanted God's children to talk to me. Brother Williams stayed till almost time for the twelve o'clock train. When he started I asked him to come back and bring Brother Warren if Brother Warren came. I was thinking about being annoyed, but had not fully decided. Brother Williams said they would come if Brother Warren was not too tired. I went to praying to the Lord and told Him that if He wanted me to be healed to send Brothers Warren and Williams back. It was only a short time until I was told that they were coming. Oh, I felt so happy! I was sure the Lord was going to heal me. I believe the Lord wanted me to obey his word and be annoyed. To tell him I would not be any better till I was annoyed. One of them said that would be an easy matter. We obeyed the word, and the prayer of faith saved the sick, and the Lord raised me up. He also burnt out all the dross and sanctified my nature.

While I knew the power of God had healed me, I did not try to get up at once. Brother Warren came to shake hands with me, and I offered him my left hand. He said, 'Can't you give me your right hand?' I began to raise my arm. My faith increased and my arm went up instantly. This was the first time I had raised it for two years.

I also had neuralgia in my head and it had affected my eyes so I could not hear the light. We had to keep the blinds over the windows. It seemed that sand was cutting my eyes when the light touched them. After I was healed my little girl said, 'Mama, your eyes are opened.' I said, 'Yes; the Lord opened my eyes, too.' Then mother put the blind up. I could look right up into the bright sky without any pain. I also had a high fever and it left me instantly.

I praise the Lord for bringing me out of Babylon. I am out from among them to stay. The people are persecuting me, but they cannot disturb my peace. The people were amazed at my healing. I could not keep still. I clapped my hands and praised the dear Lord for what He had done for me.

Now I want to thank the dear saints for their prayers and the interest they have taken in me. I desire all the prayers of God's people that I ever keep humble at the feet of Jesus. My mother is saved on this straight way, and we are praying the Lord to open up the way for the truth to be preached in this city.

Since the Lord has loosened my right arm I do not get tired of writing and talking for Him. I also wish to state that I am walking about without crutch or cane. I am just leaning on the dear Lord and he is able to do for us more than we can ask or think. Do not forget to pray for me. Pray that I may bring up my little girl for the Lord."

Death of Mrs. Harding.

Mrs. Mary E., wife of Elder J. W. Harding, aged 79 years, died at the family residence in this city Sept. 25. Her maiden name was McDonald. She was born in the village of Winchester in 1829. When only 15 years of age, in 1844 she was married to Mr. Harding. She was the mother of fourteen children, six are living, Elder J. A. Harding, of Bowling Green, Ky.; William and Walter K., of this city; Mrs. Wm. Neal, Ontario, Canada; Mrs. William Woodcott and Mrs. J. A. Rash, of this city. She leaves eighteen grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. One sister, Mrs. Lucy Whitmer, of Bloomington, Ill., also survives.

The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, the 27th. Elders M. C. Kurfess, of Louisville, and M. P. Lowry, of this city, conducted the services.

Our heart goes out in sympathy especially with Brother Harding, now in his 84th year. For sixty-four years hand in hand, this noble couple had walked down the path of life. Sometimes the road was rough and the storms beat upon them, but through it all they never wavered, the good mother doing the humble part at home, while the father went in and out to do good in the world.—Winchester Sun-Sentinel.

MINISTER AND HIS YOUNG WIFE DROWN

Meet Death in Chaplin River in Boyle County.

RESCUERS REACH SCENE TOO LATE TO SAVE THEIR LIVES.

Minister was Missionary Conference Secretary of the M. E. Church, South, and One of the Best Known Workers in Kentucky.

A Danville dispatch says: Rev. Francis M. Hill and his wife were drowned in Chaplin river, just below Perryville, on Tuesday afternoon, September 29. Their bodies were discovered thirty minutes later.

The drownings of the Rev. Mr. Hill and his bride are as strange as any ever recorded in Kentucky. The man who the Rev. Mr. Hill and wife drove to the hole was found under ten feet of water still harnessed to the surrey, in which sat Mrs. Hill. Near at hand, tangled in the reins at the bottom of the deep hole was discovered the body of the pastor. The wheels of the vehicle rested on the sandy bed of the river.

Either the animal became frightened while drinking and plunged into the river or the bed of the river gave way beneath her feet and she sank in, drawing the surrey after her.

Cries were heard for a quarter of a mile, although no one saw the accident. Probably Mr. Hill was on the bank when the horse and surrey disappeared beneath the stream. The cries were heard by a negro boy. After calling for help the Rev. Mr. Hill is thought to have jumped into the river to rescue his bride from the vehicle. Becoming tangled in the reins, he never reached his wife's side.

Three men had heard the first cries and arrived shortly after the negro boy. They had seen the pastor and his bride drive down to the water's edge.

One would dive and then another. In a few minutes the body of the pastor's bride was removed from the seat of the surrey. Soon the body of the pastor himself had been recovered.

Mr. Hill and his bride, who was Miss Margaret Bellwood, of Shelby County, returned home from Louisville Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. They had been married in Louisville Saturday night and remained until Monday morning.

On arriving here at the home of his parents, Mr. Hill and his bride spent the first day. Tuesday they decided to drive through the country. They were on their way home when Mr. Hill is thought to have stopped the horse to water it at the sinkhole near the Chaplin mills.

The burial was at Perryville Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. Hill was about forty years of age and was one of the most prominent and successful members of the Kentucky Conference of the M. E. Church, South.

His wedding of Saturday was his second marriage, his first wife being Miss Effie Godbey, daughter of the noted evangelist, Dr. W. B. Godbey, who died three years ago.

DOCTORS PRESCRIBE IT

A Medicine That Appeals to Physicians--They Recognize Its Value--Dr. J. E. Ennis, of Atlanta, Ga., Tells the Truth About Vinol.

"I want people to know that I believe the most valuable cod liver oil preparation, the best body-builder, health-restorer and strength-giver known to medicine today is Vinol.

"I advise Vinol in my practice, and find it has no equal in healing coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and sore lungs.

"I have used Vinol in many cases of indigestion, mal-assimilation, and for patients who have no appetite, were anemic and run down, with splendid results. I have also found Vinol to be a boon to the aged.

"I believe Vinol to be well worthy of any honest physician's endorsement."—J. E. Ennis, M. D.

For old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, after sickness, and for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis, and all throat and lung troubles Vinol is unexcelled. Those who try Vinol and receive no benefit may have their money back.

Is union there a strength.

Is the Business Men's Club not worthy of your co-operation?

No life is successful which cuts out food from its plans, purposes and achievements.

Respectfully indicate that the Democrats of this district will elect Anne Davis to Congress.

The President of the United States proposes to enter the presidential campaign in an endeavor to elect Mr. Taft.

Republicans are subdividing some of their head men who "try the fact" from big companies. Watch the whole bunch go to the rear.

The successful management of the financial affairs of a country is not a matter of vital importance. Well qualified men should be in charge.

Whenever candidates for high positions become blind to the dignified positions to which they aspire and deal out such expressions as "The man who says I said $1 per day was sufficient pay for a winning man to earn in a bar and the man who would believe it is a fool," exposes himself to the criticism of some. Such a delinquency is excusable to Mr. Taft.

President Roosevelt's son-in-law on the spot and made a speech in which he made a delinquency without consulting his "Pa." It has caused the wrath of those anti-Republican who had thought of becoming a candidate sometime during the coming sixteen years, on this line of the President's son-in-law presides over constitution, should it become effective.

HE DENIES.

Congressman Loggins denies that he advocated the election of his father-in-law, President Roosevelt, for eight years after Mr. Taft shall have served eight years. He thought that after the terms to Mr. Taft, Ohio would yield to one other state—perhaps New York. He says Democratic papers misrepresenting.

A commercial tourist who travels over nearly all the territory embraced in the Tenth congressional district a few days since told the editor of this paper that "Davis will sweep the Big Sandy country like a new breeze in the hands of a cleanly housekeeper. I know the people very well. Some of them are heretofore voted for Langley, but this time they will vote for Davis, and they are confident he is the coming congressman. "But," said he, "they all admit that Langley has made an excellent congressman and done more than possibly any man can do."—Hazel Green Herald.

PUBLIC BUILDING.

F. L. Peckham, Clerk to Assistant Secretary of the Treasurer, at Washington, was here from Friday at 4 o'clock until Monday at noon. He came with power to recommend the location for the Public Building. While here he inspected seven locations: Mrs. Samuels and Wm. Burroughs' places on East Main; Hall residence on South Mayville; Willoughby shop and Moore & Scott property on Bank and Locust; Judge H. C. McKee's home place on West Main and the Dr. Ricketts lot on North Mayville, and interviewed many citizens. He will soon make his report.

WILL DO HENRY.

We take pleasure in presenting to the voters in Magistrate District No. 2, composed of St. Louis and Aaron's Run precincts, for their favorable consideration the name of Wm. D. "Colonel" Henry, who is a candidate for Magistrate.

He is a former, successful in business, in reputation and character worthy of confidence, capable of dealing intelligently, justly and honestly the propositions and affairs which will come before the court. He is a man of clean life. While he may not be gifted in the intricacies of law, yet he possesses such talents as will enable him to discharge the duties of the office with honor to himself and with satisfaction to his constituents and to the satisfaction of the country.

Ohio is rapidly climbing into the temperance bandwagon. Last week the county, including Ripley, where Rev. J. E. McManis, recently of our city, lives, joined the temperance forces by over 400 majority. Twelve counties in one day voted "dry." See "Clean Sweep."

How do you like this combination: Anne Davis and the Public Building. Mr. Langley did good work in starting improvement. Davis can finish it.

Joe T. Collins, banker of North Middletown, is a candidate for the Legislature. He is a worthy citizen. We move that nominations close.

Governor Wilson spoke at Hopkinton on Monday and is much interested in the campaign.

Watch Anne Davis reach the Congressional field in this district, leading Mr. Langley.

W. S. Lloyd Successful.

After a great deal of effort and correspondence, W. S. Lloyd, the popular druggist, has succeeded in getting the Dr. Howard Co. in making special half price introductory offer on the regular fifty cent size of their celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia. This medicine is a recent discovery for the cure of all diseases of the stomach and bowels. It not only gives quick relief, but it makes permanent cures. Dr. Howard's specific has been so remarkably successful in curing constipation, dyspepsia and all liver troubles that W. S. Lloyd is willing to return the price paid in every case where it does not give relief.

So great is the demand for this specific that W. S. Lloyd has been able to secure only a limited supply, and every one who is troubled with dyspepsia, constipation or liver trouble should call upon him at once, or send 25 cents, and get sixty doses of the best medicine ever made, on this special half-price offer with his personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure.

CLEAN SWEEP MADE.

"Dry" Gained Victories in 12 Ohio Counties.

Total of 390 Saloons Voted Out in Sixteen Counties.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 30.—A clean sweep was made by the "dry" in the local option election of Tuesday. Elections were held in twelve counties under the new law and by majority ranging from 2,545 to 281 every county went "dry." The number of saloons affected is 390. Most of the counties which voted are largely agricultural, but some and Lawrence counties have a large urban population in Portsmouth and London, respectively. Altogether sixteen of the eighty-eight counties in the State have held local option elections and all have gone "dry." The total number of saloons voted out is 390. Following is a recapitulation of the election:

TRIP BEFORE ALTAR

SPANISH CUSTOM IS RELIC OF MIDDLE AGES.

Curious Steps are Taken in Seville Cathedral in Gaudí's Church is a Large One and Much Resembles a Museum.

Not one of the many relics of the middle ages, with which Spain still abounds, is more curious than the dancing before the altar which takes place every evening during the octaves of the Immaculate Conception (December 8 to 15) and Corpus Domini (three weeks after Ascension day) in the cathedral of Seville.

This church is the largest Gothic cathedral in the world. It is lit by no fewer than 50 windows, and is a veritable museum of art, but the crowning glory of this venerable pile is its fifteenth and sixteenth century altarpiece, the destined of which is upon Gaudí's plan.

The dance is performed by two rows of choristers or seises, numbering ten or twelve (formerly it was six), wearing plumed hats and dressed as pages of the time of Philip III., the colors of the clothes vary; for the octave of Corpus Domini they are red and white, while blue and white are worn during the Immaculate Conception. To the slow music of violins this dance (which is a sort of ballet) is solemnly performed, devoid of all irreverence and levity.

At the December festival the vast church is in darkness, save for the lights of the high altar, and the effect is consequently most impressive. The chorists which the choristers break out into merely add to the solemnity of the occasion, which is not in the least degree lessened by the sound of the organists' solemn play. There are two sets of music, and they are used upon alternate evenings, the sale of which is jealously guarded against by the chapter.

A legend says this singular ritual originated at the time of the siege of Seville by some boys going out to Alcala, where they danced before the Moorish army, which they so delighted that they were able to detain them while the Spaniards made their walls, but really the origin of this "dancing" is quite obscure.

Another interesting legend relates that a certain architect of Seville about 200 years ago wished to suppress this ritual, but the citizens, together with the canons, gave such opposition that there was quite a tumult, and the matter was referred to Rome. The pope of that time wishing to see the dance, the choristers were taken to the Eternal City, where they performed before the head of Christendom, who merely laughed, but to please the architect and at the same time to appease the canons he said the dancing might continue until the clothes were worn out; to avoid this, the dresses, which are of striped silk, have always been partially restored at a time, and they now bid fair to last forever.

The other legends are connected with the Jews of Toledo, who formed the only community of medieval Europe that was not confined to a Ghetto, with all its persecuting regulations. One of the reasons given for this is that at the time of the crucifixion, or a little before, the sanhedrin of Jerusalem sent around to all the Jewish colonies asking whether or not the Christ was the long-expected Messiah, and the Jews of this city were the only ones who returned an affirmative answer, for which they received their freedom.

Another legend says the cause of this singular circumstance was that when the Christians endeavored to confine these Jews to a Ghetto the latter proved that before the crucifixion their ancestors were living in Toledo, and so they were guilty of that crime.

Lightning Plucks a Bird. Lightning did some queer stunts here during a storm, among them the knocking of all but a solitary feather from the body of a mouse hawk, which, strange to relate, still lives to bear mute evidence of the occurrence, says the Columbus Dispatch.

The hawk was found under the tree which had been struck the following morning, when the hands on the I. D. Stone farm were inspecting the work of the storm. The bird was barely alive and, stripped of all but the one feather, presented a sorry appearance. It was taken to the house and fed and bled for recovery.

Easy Enough. "Well," pondered the new Answers-to-Correspondents editor, "I wonder how to answer this: Here's a subscriber who wants to know what a good thing to take ink stains out of white flannel."

"That's easy," replied the sporting editor, "a pair of scissors."

A Near-Right Answer. Some funny things happen in the schoolroom. A Brooklyn teacher called upon a small boy to define "multitude."

"A multitude," said the boy, "is what we get when we multiply."—Lippincott's.

CORRECT DRESS For Men

Autumn and Winter Styles, 1908-9 Now Ready.

Men and young fellows look here for correct models in Men's Clothes, whether they buy or not. There is an authoritativeness about our designs and a sameness—that shows to a marked degree the fashion—not overdone and yet not lacking in the essential points—the finest qualities are found here and only here, and when a man has a suit bearing our label he can feel with perfect confidence that he is well dressed. These points may not appeal to your vanity every day, but there are days and times when a man goes care and feel conscious of his looks, style and the quality of his clothes and then it counts. Our aim is to sell the best—to raise the standard of work—to offer standard brands that we know are good, and this we do; and we sell such merchandise at the same prices as numbers of other stores ask for inferior STUFF. As business men you should consider the above points. As economical spenders you investigate what we say, and as judges of quality, surroundings and conditions we will rest our case in your hands. A look on any business day in the week will be appreciated.

TEACH IN FAR NORTH

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER ONLY WHITE RESIDENTS.

They Tutor in Old Russian Settlement at Afognak, Alaska—Are Well Treated by Natives of Unique Little Island.

Mrs. C. W. Hammond and her daughter are teaching in what is perhaps the most interesting school under the stars and stripes. They are teachers appointed by the government to conduct the native school at Afognak, Alaska.

Afognak, Alaska, is but little known to the people of the United States, yet it was the third town started by the Russians in the early part of the last century on the Pacific. It would have little reason to demand even the attention of the government today were it not for the fact that one of the best Indian schools conducted in the territory of Alaska is maintained there. Afognak is on an island of the same name in south-western Alaska.

Mrs. C. W. Hammond and her daughter are registered at the Diller hotel. They have the task of teaching the 31 pupils who are enrolled at the Afognak school, and it is not likely that in all the possessions of the United States there is such a variety of color or intelligence among the natives who are being educated. On one thing the natives, from the Aleuts to the Russian petroliers, are a unit. Every one is the most devout of Greek Catholics on Sunday. On other days they are simply natives.

It was last year that Mrs. Hammond, who formerly lived at San Juan Island, in Washington state, was appointed teacher at Afognak. When she arrived there she found a school which had been established 29 years. It was rearranged to conform to modern ideas, and in a few weeks Mrs. Hammond will, with her daughter, begin the fall term.

"I enjoy the work," said Mrs. Hammond, "for I find a great study in the natives. It would surprise people to know that of the 31 pupils in the school there is hardly one who does not take naturally to drawing. Why, it is astonishing to find that little tots who are just able to toddle to the schoolhouse when furnished with a pencil and paper begin drawing. I have fostered and encouraged this trait, and there are several of the older children who are really clever."

"Music, however, is the one thing that was the most difficult to teach. The children are quite well advanced, but there are also many who attend school only by compulsion, although they are very fond of music education they possess after reaching maturity."

"Do they have phonographs? Why, there is not a popular air that has been sung in the United States in the last ten years that is not common in Afognak within three months after its record is made. I am taking a trunk full of records up with me. And among the records I had a demand for some real classical music."

"So far as the studies go, I cannot say that the natives are anxious to learn English in its higher branches. There are some who are quite well advanced, but there are also many who attend school only by compulsion, although they are very fond of music education they possess after reaching maturity."

"Afognak shows that the white blood must predominate. There are two villages. One is the real native village; the other the half-castes. I have noticed that any native who has a drop of white blood in his or her veins looks down on the full blooded native."

"There are no white men stationed at Afognak. A few prospectors and hunters call there occasionally, so Mrs. Hammond and her daughter are alone among the natives. They say they get along splendidly with them."

Thrilling Moment in Fiction.

The bomb went off with a dull and deafening roar and Second-Story Bill, the pious burglar, gazed into the black recesses of the vault.

"At last!" he muttered, hoarsely, "my prayers are answered. Fortune is mine."

He went in, but in a moment he emerged, his face white with the rage of disappointment.

"Curse them!" he cried in his wrath. "The receivers have been here before me. But he was wrong. The vault had contained the firm's collateral for speculators' loans and the recent fall in the market had completely wiped out the mortgage—Success."

Irish Street Children.

The Irish street children must surely be the visitors the most surprising of all their institutions. In ready humor and in bright good humor, in an unquenchable spirit of playfulness, with the most diligent and painstaking attention to business, reinforced by the most surprising art of coaxing, these barefooted citizens give a day-long comedy. Sometimes they seem to embody and synthesize all Ireland, its joy poverty and its good humor in depressing circumstances.

Incriminating Evidence.

Station Sergeant—Are you married? Prisoner—No, sir. Officer—Begin your pardon, sarge, he's wrong. When we searched him we found in his pockets a clipped receipt for curin' croup, a piece of silk and two unopened letters in a woman's handwriting a week old.—Brazley Stars.

IN A YOKOHAMA THEATER.

The Plays Last All Day, and Some Times Two.

Before leaving Yokohama, I went to the theater, which certainly was unlike anything I had ever seen before, writes Lady Randolph Churchill. In the Century. We sat on the floor of our so-called box, and had tea like the crowd. And such a crowd! It was and end of source of interest and amusement to watch them, whole families—mother-in-law and daughters-in-law, children of all ages, and parents of different generations, fathers, sons and grandsons. All had their dinners with them. Little trays were produced—three boxes full of rice, bowls containing weird foodstuffs, pink, white and green; seaweed on rice cakes; raw fish and nuggets yellow condiment, tea in miniature cups, of course, with no milk or sugar. The Japanese cannot understand European putting milk in their tea, as, according to them, it has a strong smell.

The children were dressed and undressed during the entr'actes, and people smoked, slept, ate, talked and sauntered themselves. It was certainly a great contrast to see a little "mummy" such as Pierre Loti described, daintily dressed in the gayest of kimono and smartest of obi, sitting between a coolie wearing nothing but a loose cotton jacket and an old man nursing a baby. Although it was true that most of the men had little hats, and the thermometer was 85 degrees, the atmosphere was not oppressive, as I am sure would have been the case in a European theater under similar circumstances. The plays have usually 14 or 15 acts, and last all day and sometimes two. This particular one not having an actress such as Sadie Yacco to interpret it, was quite unintelligible to me, but I admired the grace of the actresses, their easy movements when dancing, and the way they managed their tight clothes. Imagine my surprise when I found out afterward that they were all new! Up to a few years ago men and women did not act together in Japan, the theatrical companies being composed of either one sex or the other. But a change has come over them, and there are now mixed companies.

LOOKING AROUND FROM LIFE.

New Yorkers Are Fond of Lingering Before the Shop Windows.

One of the things which strikes a stranger in New York is the habit business men have of looking in at shop windows. The crowds are always thronging the streets, crowding each other in the mad rush. But hardly a window but before it can be seen a group of the actresses, their easy movements when dancing, and the way they managed their tight clothes. Imagine my surprise when I found out afterward that they were all new! Up to a few years ago men and women did not act together in Japan, the theatrical companies being composed of either one sex or the other. But a change has come over them, and there are now mixed companies.

President McGarvey Pays Tribute to a Friend.

Last week in Lexington Prof. John Neville, a noted educator, died. President McGarvey says of him:

I had known Prof. Neville longer than I had any other living person. We were born within a few miles of each other in Christian county, Kentucky, he being nearly two years my senior; but first we met as boys in Tremont, Tazewell county, Illinois, to which county our respective families had moved. There we were intimately associated until in 1846 he was sent to Bethany College, whither I followed a year later.

In the spring of 1848, after a sermon by Alexander Campbell, we both stepped forward to confess our faith in Christ, and were baptized together by Prof. W. K. Pendleton. He graduated in 1849.

As a student he was the wonder and admiration of the whole college. A year later I left college. He as a professor in Eureka, Illinois, and I as a preacher in Missouri; but on the removal of Kentucky University from Harrodsburg to Lexington in 1865, we came together again as professors in the institution. We have been co-laborers in the education of young men since that date.

In all this long acquaintance and friendship I cannot now recall a single disagreeable word that ever passed between us, or a moment of alienation.

I doubt whether there was a man in the United States who excelled him in his knowledge of the Greek language. He was also highly accomplished in many branches of learning.

There is scarcely a State in the Union, or a civilized country anywhere, in which may not be found young men and old men who have received instruction from Prof. Neville. Among missionaries in heathen lands the same is true. His suddenness is a shock to us all, but how much more desirable is such a death than for it to have come after a long and painful sickness. An old preacher of my acquaintance closes every public prayer with the petition that he may "die at home and in his right mind." This favor was granted to my friend, and I thank God for it. I ask it also for myself.

Kentucky's Vote In Former Elections.

In 1896 Bryan received 217,590 votes; McKinley 218,171, giving the State to McKinley by 581. In 1898 W. S. Taylor, Republican got 193,714 votes; Wm. Goebel, Democrat, 191,351 votes. In 1900 Bryan got 235,103, as against 227,108 for McKinley, the Democratic nominee receiving a plurality of 7,975. In the election for Governor in 1900 Beckham polled 239,273 votes and John W. Yeakes 226,753, Beckham having a plurality of 3,578. In 1903 Beckham won over Belknap by a majority of 26,250, although he did not get as many votes as he did in 1900. He got 229,014 votes, as against 202,764 for Belknap. In 1904 Parker polled 217,170 votes as against 205,277 for Roosevelt. Parker's plurality was 11,893. In the race for Governor last year S. W. Hager polled 196,425 votes, while Wilson only polled 214,481. Wilson went into the Governor's office with a plurality of 18,053, notwithstanding the fact that 43,759 fewer votes were cast than in the Governor's race of 1903. The largest number of votes ever cast in the State was eight years ago, 462,211.

PAPAL LORE IN COIN

SERIES THAT EXTENDS OVER A THOUSAND YEARS.

Adrian I, the First Head of Church to Circulate Currency—Leo XIII. Was the Last—Rare Types Are Illustrated.

Not the least interesting of the pope's jubilee gifts was the unique gold coin of Pope Innocent IX, which recently exhibited at Aquila, Italy, was contended for by coin collectors. King Victor Emmanuel being an unsuccessful competitor.

This coin, the only one in existence of the reign of Innocent IX, was needed to make the Vatican collection of papal coins complete.

The papal coins exhibit the portraits of many of the popes and their coats of arms, and furnish a valuable history of the coinage of the church from the first issues in the latter part of the eighth century down to 1870, when the papal states were annexed to Italy.

GLOBE TROTTING BY LABEL.

How to Travel 'Round the World for Fifty Cents.

If you wish to travel 'round the world on 50 cents there is a London portmanteau maker who can enable you to do it. For the small sum named you can buy a ticket which entitles you to claim to have traveled from Hongkong to Hobart, New Zealand, or elsewhere, and you can visit, en route, Paris, Rome, Monte Carlo, or any other mortal place. Many Americans going to England take advantage of this marvelous system.

All you need in order to accomplish this marvelous journey is a bunch of labels, with the name of the various cities to which you wish people to think you have been. Paste these conspicuously on your trunk, your grip bag, your camera, hat box and on the blanket of your "bunk" bag. If you start one—and presto—you emerge before the eyes of the public as a full-fledged globe trotter.

The selling of "traveled labels" to untraveled travelers is a thriving business in London, Paris and other of the big European centers. You can buy a whole set of labels covering a certain route. If you wish your friends to think you have just come from the Rion you can get plenty of labels for "Monte Carlo, Nice, Cannes and other resorts. If you prefer a trip down the blue you can be as easily and as comfortably accommodated.

Send a label vendor in the Strand: "I let out portmanteaus fully labeled in any trip you like to take. Some people like to stick on their own assortment of labels," continued my informant, "while others prefer trunks, ribbons and boxes plastered all over with more a trunk or a grip is worn and labeled. The latter some find more to like it, and much of our travel stock that seems as if it could stand another public appearance is a great demand."

"We have one fully labeled 'globe trotting' bag that brings in $2.50 for the usual charge of $5.00. When our customers take these bags away they are always pretending to lose them."

It is in the form of a fiddle and a row and is unusually large. Its history is curious. Many years ago a certain resident of London was employed on a modest livelihood by performing on an old violin which was almost a part of his life. At last he decided to emigrate and out in the west prospered and became a rich man.

One day he sent to a clergyman a great Gundry a sum of money to build a church and attached to the gift the curious condition that a metal replica of his old fiddle and bow should be on the altar of the edifice. The gift was accepted and the vane may still be seen on the church.

A Bird's Vanity.

The canary bird sang so loud and clear that the three men, in their shirt sleeves on the lawn, could not keep track of their argument. Discomfited and without meaning said the music floated in the air.

"He's stuck on himself," said the host. "As long as I have the mirror before me I can't judge from it, even to say, 'Now, as I was saying—'"

And soon a great hubbub arose over "his" vanity.

"That bird," said the host. "It is him."

And he got a little mirror and set it in the cage.

The canary stood before the mirror and was silent. He gazed with rapture at himself. He beamed despite like Alice Allen in her "Salome" dances.

"He's stuck on himself," said the host. "As long as I have the mirror before me I can't judge from it, even to say, 'Now, as I was saying—'"

OLDE HONESTE.

Avry thing is looking like there will be something in november if the political mills keep grinding. that fowler hears thinks foraker takes out to much tole at his mill. there seems to be a general rounding up a mong the mud people, them that had no chane to do any of uncle sam's grinding is showing hot shott in avry direction and will continue to do so until tha can git'a tail holt on sum big dollar making scheme. Archbold, foraker & co. was onley after money to put in their own pockets. taft, Brian and all the whole load, with hurs and haskell throne in, are after the same thing. this kind of mud slinging cums avry four years. talk a bout one political party being any more honest than the other, any old fool with hog sene nose better then that. what in the thunder duss those high office seekers ceng a bout the poor working class after tha git there. tha of course will put up sum little kind of a talk to gain the agnomt class of voters before tha git the money shop keys in their pursheishon. Jest watch them after tha git in, and you will here no more a bout the man that has to go thruve this life on the swet of his own brow; he aint got brains a nough to git wher he might have a chane to steal and defrad the common people. All those big colages and scools is only to egecate the younger classes how to keep out of hard work and keep the clod hoppers tuzing for them at any ever wadges tha may say is a nough. poor people cant send ther kids to any of those big colages—it takes more money then tha can make at hard labor to stradle sutch thing as a big colage out flit. a rabbit track egication is as far as the poor man can reach. avry man will preach up his one honesta and as long as he can may you belevay he is telling the truth the more he will gure you for the dollar if you dont keep your eye skinned. I can lising to all kinds of talking machines but dont hav to take all in. now my frien reader dont let the people of this world think sum of us that havnt much book lerning dont no a few things off handed. we no the world is full of fine, polished, egicated leaders in all classes of busness that it takes to navagate a world according to old nicks plans of government. I aint tolde it takes all kinds of people to make a world; havent we got the people? so dont let us weary over our troubles—ther will be a end to them when the dollar and devel is side tracked and put out of busness. all this mud slinging we read a bout in the paper is all a lumbag started to fool the four and five dollar class of people. I dan bia to long on the road to not no the diferece between edler and edlmanly wate. I cant see what a man wants to live for in this wicked world unless it is to eat ham and eggs, so to bring avry thing to a focus and do to others as we would have them to do to us, if old nick aint got full sway in this presidenshal campaine I will give up the mule and say no more. it never will be any better until old nick and his money is removed. we all are saints in our own estimation, but how will we be judged after the upsting of our coffee kitties? gee, wont there be a hot time in the olde mans' town!

Business Men's Club.

The Business Men's Club met in monthly session on Monday evening. Only 16 members were present. A resolution was adopted for appointment of a committee who is to endeavor to secure better train service on the K. & S. A. so that passengers can spend a day in Mt. Sterling or on the road or at Frenchburg and return home at night.

In order to secure a larger and regular attendance, some members signed an agreement to be present at each monthly meeting. It is hoped that there will be a great awakening of interest in the club and that by a united and enthusiastic spirit much can be done for the city. A motion prevailed that the attention of City Council be called to importance of granting telephone franchises to companies who will agree to exchange messages, giving subscribers to one company privilege of the other lines—on terms to be agreed upon by the companies.

On Tuesday, September 29, W. R. Kirby and wife celebrated their golden wedding. Their four children, Mrs. T. J. Taul, Carlisle, and A. W. Kirby (twins), S. J. Kirby, of Middletown, O., and Mrs. W. D. Caywood, of Miamisburg, O., were present. Also Mrs. Susan Wyatt and sons, L. A. and E. D., from Lebanon, Ind., and other home kin and friends, making a total of 57. S. J. Kirby and his sister, Mrs. Caywood returned home last week.

On Thursday evening Rev. and Mrs. H. G. Moody entertained at their home in honor of their congregation. Friends and neighbors were invited to meet them. The house was attractive with ferns, cosmos, golden rod, etc. A local orchestra furnished music. The host and hostess were assisted by the officers of the congregation and their wives in entertaining. In the hall frappe was served and in the dining room ices, cakes and minis. A souvenir card with a picture of the parsonage was pinned on each guest. The hours were very pleasantly spent and we left with best wishes for the pastor and his wife and their work.

Drought Causes Heavy Damage to Kentucky Crops.

A partial idea of the fearful effect of the drought was obtained when the monthly report of crops was made at Frankfort, October 5. Not only is the corn crop severely affected, but tobacco has been hurt, little or no wheat has been sown on account of inability to break up ground and other crops have suffered proportionately.

"The weather during the month of September was hot and very dry."

"Water is very scarce and in many parts of the State it has not rained since the first of August, and stock is suffering and people are hauling water for miles."

"Hemp is being cut but is not very high above the ground."

"There is little demand for feeding cattle."

"The second crop of potatoes has suffered greatly."

"Rye sowing has been greatly hindered. All grass is parched."

LADY FAKIR

Collects Money but Fails to Show Up With the Goods.

Some weeks ago a lady came to Danville representing herself as saleslady and advertising agent for a large New York Silk House. She carried an elaborate line of samples and made enticing prices. Fine silks that retail at big prices were offered as low as twenty-five cents per yard. A number of Danville ladies bought heavily, paid in advance for the goods, which were never delivered and never will be. Some days later an upholstering man came along gathering up furniture which he proposed to do over. He took the furniture but has never shown up and many are anxiously awaiting his return.—Kentucky Advocate.
